Safety Expo '79

The division of Occupational Health, Safety, and Fire is again sponsoring a safety exposition to inform students, staff, and the general public of health and safety services provided on campus and to the community at large.

The second annual Safety Expo is scheduled for two days, 30 and 31 October. It will consist of numerous booths displaying new safety products and providing information on various services and equipment. All six campus safety agencies will be represented, and fifteen government agencies and nine private companies are also contributing to the event.

This year emphasis will be placed upon health and a total of 30 booths will contain information on this topic. Hearing, eye, blood pressure, and TB tests will be available and audio-visual presentations and pamphlets will be provided. Health display booths will provide information on why people should protect their bodies and their general health. As well, safety companies will show their new products, for example, eye and ear protectors, breathing units, and respirators, all of which can assist workers and other individuals in preventing injury and maintaining good health.

Accident prevention will also be a major theme in Safety Expo '79 with a number of organizations covering such topics as traffic safety, the prevention of accidents in the home and in the laboratory, safety and the child and on-the-job safety.

Safety Expo '79 is open to the public and can be viewed in the Central Academic Building from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on 30 and 31 October. There is no admission charge. □

Accidents in Alberta

Accidents will happen, but judging from statistics published in the August issue of the Workers' Compensation Board of Alberta newsletter, the rate of occurrence is cause for great concern.

WCB Info required a full-page (8 x 11 inches) to list the nature of injuries in accidents reported for the first two quarters of this year.

The total of 65,121 injuries reported serves to underline the importance of events such as Safety Expo '79. Of course, many of the injuries sustained and reported to the WCB were relatively minor (sprains and strains, bruises, cuts and burns of varying severity accounted for 45,464 injuries) but there were also 123 amputations, 2,982 fractures and dislocations, 412 cases of multiple injuries, 426 instances of dermatitis and systemic poisoning, 418 arc or welding flash burns, and, among other industrial or job-related injuries, five instances of individuals suffering from radiation effects. In the category "unknown," the total number of injuries reported was 12,302.

Moreover, this appalling record of personal injury in Alberta is even worse than the record for 1978. In the second quarter of this year, the number of claims reported rose by nine percent from the 1978 level and the WCB estimates that, for the same period, fatalities rose by some 11.1 percent. The increase in the number of "compensation days" paid is equally disturbing: in the second quarter of 1978 there were 237,069 compensation days paid and in the same period this year 252,007. This figure represents an increase of 6.3 percent and must be compared with only a 5.2 percent increase in the number of employees covered by the WCB.

The relevance of Safety Expo '79 to members of the University and larger community cannot be emphasized too greatly. □

Campaign to Promote Campus Appreciation

A concerned group of University students and staff is rallying together in an effort to decrease the occurrence of vandalism on campus and to increase appreciation of our University's facilities and grounds.

Sparked by the current incidence of vandalism, the Committee on Campus Appreciation is emphasizing the positive aspects of an attack on vandalism: decreased vandalism might mean that money spent on repair could be used elsewhere on campus. Instead of moralizing to the University, the theme of the Committee is awareness, informing the public how the grounds and buildings are misused. From this it is hoped that users will take more pride in a vandalism-free University.

The campaign will be a continuing project as the Committee believes such a movement will take time to gain momentum and support. Campus users, through the "you don't know what you've got 'till it's gone" campaign, will be encouraged to take pride in their surroundings and help prevent acts of vandalism by reporting any suspicious activity.

The kick-off for the campaign is scheduled for 30 October to coincide with "Safety Expo '79." Posters will be placed at strategic locations around campus, specifically in areas most frequently used and in other areas where it is felt that vandalism prospers. According to the campaign organizers, prime targets for abuse are glass windows and washrooms.

The poster, designed by a University Art and Design student, emphasizes the senselessness of vandalism, the expense involved in repair and encourages anyone witnessing such an act to contact Campus Security. □

Student Achievement

Minister's Representative Gordon Mowat has scheduled public meetings to discuss written submissions in response to recommendations in the recent report of MACOSA, the Minister's Advisory Committee on Student Achievement. The meetings scheduled for Edmonton will take place at the Holiday Inn between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on 31 October, and 1 and 2 November.

Dr. Mowat has received eighty-five submissions from groups and individuals. While, for a variety of reasons, not all submissions will be discussed during the public meetings, these meetings will constitute the final review of the recommendations with the public. After the conclusion of the open meetings in Lethbridge, Calgary, and Edmonton, citizen opinion will be summarized for presentation to the Minister in December. □

Prevention of Sexual Assault

With the commencement of a new term, it is felt advisable to repeat warnings to female students and staff of the potential threat of rape or sexual assault.

The situation in Edmonton indicates a number of such assaults have taken place in the city recently, and, to avoid as much as possible such occurrence happening on campus, female students and staff are cautioned to be careful in their habits and to avoid placing themselves in jeopardy by being alert to the risk of taking up with strangers, hitchhiking or being alone in darkened areas, etc.

The brochure "Lady Beware" and the Rape Crisis pamphlet are most helpful, with information regarding avoiding rape, and are available at the Campus Security office upon request.

Campus Security will escort concerned persons from libraries, offices, etc. to bus stops or to their cars upon request to 432-5252. □

Graduate Students anticipate their future

The following article has been received from K. Mazurek.

The Department of Educational Foundations has just produced a book of readings. The book is entitled Educational Futures: Anticipations by the Next Generation of Canadian Scholars, and was edited by Kas Mazurek.

The work is unique in that it is written by graduate students. The concept behind the book is that today's graduate students will become (as university, college and school instructors, as administrators, as researchers, as counselors, as policy makers, as civil servants, as educational critics and innovators, and as moulders of public opinion) the educational "leaders" of tomorrow. Unquestioningly, these students are conducting their study and research with an eye to what skills and knowledge they feel will be demanded in the coming years of the pedagogical community. In the above, very real, sense, the "future" is being addressed now.

If today's graduate students are tomorrow's educational decision-makers and moulders of opinion, and if they are at this moment projecting the future they will face, an examination of their views is in effect a glimpsing of the future through the eyes of those who will have a direct impact on its shape. Educational Futures has provided a forum for this vision of the future, and the result has been an illumination of "education" (very broadly defined) which addresses issues at all levels of formal schooling, policy making, the social/political dimensions of education, the rôle and structure of teachers' organizations, multiculturalism and education, etc. As its table of contents illustrates, five major themes provide focus for discussion: a quest for identity; educational change and political power; education for social consciousness; rethinking current practices and procedures; and alternative coping strategies.

This book is available at the cost of $5 per copy from The Department of Educational Foundations, Faculty of Education, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta T6G 2E1. □

The Association of American University Presses Award

The Canadian Review of Comparative Literature, edited by Milan V. Dimic with the assistance of E.D. Blodgett of the Department of Comparative Literature, and produced at the University of Toronto, has received the design and production award of the Association of American University Presses. The jury explained its decision with the comments: "The typographic design of the cover title demonstrates the overall attention paid to the interior typographic problems. The Linweave Early American Concorde Orange is an excellent stock choice. A straightforward design that is in no way dull. Easy to read, generous margins, bright paper, and expertly set VIP Aldus." This competition only takes place every ten years so that the award carries particular weight. □

George H. Gibb 1918-1979

George H. Gibb, Director of Student Admission in the Faculty of Dentistry succumbed on 4 October after a lengthy illness. Dr. Gibb, who was born and raised in Cardston, Alberta, and who only last month was inducted as a Fellow of the Royal College of Dentists (Canada), had been active in Alberta and Edmonton for very many years.

Having attended Brigham Young University from 1937 to 1939, he first served the province in the Department of Lands and Mines as an accountant, before serving in the Canadian Dental Corps during and shortly after the war years. In 1946, Dr. Gibb enrolled at this University, receiving his BSc in 1950 and the Doctorate of Dental Surgery in 1952. From 1952 to 1959, he practised and instructed in Dentistry and became particularly interested in restorative techniques. In 1959, he accepted a position in the Department of Restorative Dentistry at this University with the rank of Assistant Professor.

Maintaining his interest in restorative dentistry and, in particular, in the use of gold foil applications, Dr. Gibb was appointed head of his Department in 1961, in which year he was promoted to the rank of Associate Professor. In 1964, Dr. Gibb became "Founder" of the Canadian Academy of Restorative Dentistry and, in 1968, was promoted to the rank of Professor.

From 1965, when he served on the AASUA executive, Dr. Gibb became increasingly involved with university administration. In 1968, he served as secretary of the AASUA, and in subsequent years fulfilled a variety of functions, serving, for example, on GFC between 1970 and 1974, on Joint Board-AASUA committees, and other selection and Faculty committees. In 1967, Dr. Gibb was appointed Assistant Dean of the Faculty of Dentistry. Dr. Gibb's most recent appointment within the Faculty of Dentistry took place in 1978 when he was made Director of Student Admissions.

George H. Gibb

George H. Gibb is survived by his wife Verda and his four children, Kent, Ronn, Elizabeth, and Patricia.

Donations in honor of Dr. Gibb's memory may be made to the scholarship fund of the Faculty of Dentistry. □

Peter P. Rempel 1910-1979

Dr. Peter Rempel passed away on 24 September 1979 after a lengthy illness. Funeral services were held on 28 September at the First Mennonite Church in Edmonton.

Dr. Rempel joined the faculty in 1959, and held a cross-appointment with the Department of Psychology and Student Counselling Services until his retirement in 1975.

Dr. Rempel was raised in Saskatchewan and began his teaching career in the high schools of the Province and in the Rosthern Junior College there. He obtained his PhD degree from the University of Minnesota in 1955 after which he assumed the position of Senior Counsellor at the State University of Iowa. Upon joining the faculty of this University, in addition to his instructional duties in the Department of Psychology, Dr. Rempel had the position of Senior Counsellor at Student Counselling Services and served as its Acting Director from 1961 to 1964. Dr. Rempel's dedication to teaching and his understanding and accepting attitude toward the problems of youth won him the respect and affection of colleagues and students. □

Safety Expo '79

Sponsored by:
Personnel Services,
Division of University
Occupational Health, Safety and Fire

In addition to six University Safety Offices, there will be 25 display booths covering every aspect of health and safety. There will be pamphlets on all areas and several special services: TB tests, blood pressure tests, hearing tests, eye tests, and you'll get a chance to try the seat belt machine. This Expo is coordinated for the University community and this year we will also welcome the general public. Come and find out what services the U of A and your community have to offer.

Date: 30-31 October 1979

Place: Central Academic Building, U of A
Time: 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.
